Description Reviews (34) Information for Physicians

Sometimes, Avoids are simply unavoidable.

Meet Deflect O, your first line of defense against lectins in Avoid foods. A class of proteins that bind to the different antigens in each blood type, lectins can harm immune and digestive function. This causes a variety of health problems including intestinal and bowel irritation, bloating, weight gain and lethargy. Shielding your biology from these dangerous molecules is important.

An exclusive blend of glucosamine, bladderwrack and sodium alginate, Deflect O is crafted for optimal absorption by Blood Type Os. Dr. D'Adamo's uniquely designed formula provides specific blocking sugars that attach to receptors on lectins, preventing them from weakening immune and digestive health.

- Knocks out specific Type O dietary lectins before they hinder digestion
- Boosts metabolism
- Reinforces immune defenses

Our lectin-fighting team includes:

N-Acetyl D-Glucosamine (NAG)

Acts like a magnet for lectins in foods such as wheat and other grains. When lectins bind to the NAG on your cells, they impair their functioning and promote inflammation. The NAG in Deflect serves as a distractor, picking up stray lectins without interrupting your metabolism.

Bladderwrack (Fucus vesiculosus)

Binds to unfriendly bacteria and viruses such as meningococcal bacteria which causes bacterial meningitis herpes simplex, E. coli and several strains of Candida. When bladderwrack attaches to harmful microbes, it prevents them from sticking to the intestinal tract, where they can hinder digestive functioning.

Sodium Alginate

Binds lectins in the digestive tract and prevents their absorption. A natural polysaccharide product extracted from brown seaweed that grows in cold water regions, its binding properties come from its solubility in cold and hot water with strong agitation, which makes it thicken and bind.

While it can't magically turn Avoids into Beneficials, Deflect O may assist in healthy weight loss and the repair of pre-existing lectin damage. With the help of our formula, you can support a balanced digestive system.
